

Privacy Policy

Your privacy is important to the Triskeles Foundation. Any personal information we may collect about you will only be used to further our charitable mission.

Information We May Collect

From you: We may obtain information directly from you in discussions (or in written form) about your charitable intentions or when you submit a document containing personal information, such as to open a Donor Advised Fund or to establish another fund at the Triskeles Foundation. Typically, this information includes your name, address, employment, and sometimes details about your family or financial condition. In addition, your transaction history with the Triskeles Foundation is a type of personal information that we record.

From Others: In the course of providing services, we may acquire information about you from other individuals or organizations that know you or have information about you.

What We Do With Personal Information

We use personal information to communicate with you and where appropriate, to develop, offer and deliver services to you. We do not and will never sell any list of donors. On occasion, we may forward to you materials supplied by unaffiliated third parties, if we find those materials consistent with our mission.

We may share personal information as follows:

- We share information with others when legally required to do so, such as to comply with tax laws or court orders, or when necessary to enforce or protect our legal rights.
- We share information among affiliates or other charitable organizations that are controlled by the Triskeles Foundation. This Privacy Policy applies to all of our affiliates.
- We may share personal information with unaffiliated third parties when necessary to provide services or otherwise carry out our mission, but we generally do so only where the third party has a duty to maintain the confidentiality of the information. Examples include communications with attorneys or other advisors. Donors who request that their donations be used to support one of our fiscally sponsored projects may be identified to the project organizer unless the donor requests anonymity.

How We Protect Personal Information

We have adopted a variety of physical, electronic and procedural safeguards designed to protect the security and integrity of personal information.

Every employee and all board members of the Triskeles Foundation are covered by a Confidentiality Policy that is included in our Employee Policy. We restrict access to personal client information to those employees who need the information to perform their functions, where feasible.

We honor requests to be removed from our mailing list.
